

What is the electric vehicle market in Buenos Aires?

In Argentina, the electric vehicle (EV) market is gradually emerging, primarily focused on cars and buses. Buenos Aires, the capital city, is witnessing a growing interest in EVs, albeit with some challenges.

Does Argentina have an EV market?

Argentina has a nascent market for EVs, with approximately 5,900 electric vehicles in 2021, most of which are hybrid vehicles.⁸ The lack of charging infrastructure poses a significant challenge for the adoption of EVs. Additionally, while Argentina has an important automotive industry, it currently does not have notable EV production.

Are electric cars the future of Buenos Aires?

Electric cars (EVs) represent a pivotal transition in the global movement towards sustainable mobility, and Buenos Aires is no exception. With an increasing focus on reducing carbon footprints and fostering environmental conservation, Buenos Aires is poised to embrace electric vehicles in its urban landscape.

Can Argentina produce EVs?

However, Argentina's domestic production capacity will depend on whether (1) existing automotive trade dynamics between the two countries will continue; (2) Argentina creates new incentives to produce EVs locally; and (3) the transferring of EV technologies from parent companies. In addition, Argentina could further explore battery
