

Photovoltaic panel construction scam case sharing

That's exactly what happened to 72-year-old Martha in Arizona last year. The photovoltaic panel construction scam she fell victim to represents a growing trend in renewable energy's Wild West era. Let's pull back the ...

No information about the cost to remove or transfer solar panels, which could lead you to believe you have future options that might not be available or affordable

Did a salesperson knock on your door and promise free rooftop solar panels at no cost to you? Or say you'll never have to pay another electricity bill because government programs, grants, or ...

The rising popularity of residential solar panels has also cracked the door open for fraud. In that light, five solar panel companies have been accused of deceptive practices in a new lawsuit ...

Solar panel fraud is a grave threat to the credibility and growth of the renewable energy sector. By exposing breach of contract issues, FTC Holder Rule violations, lender liability, and the ...

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading claim.

The Federal Trade Commission is getting tired of dealing with all the solar panel scam complaints and warns consumers what to watch out for.

By stepping forward, whether by filing a claim, sharing your story, or simply seeking a no-cost review of your case, you not only protect your own rights, but also help expose broader patterns of wrongdoing.

Rapidly increasing demand for sustainable energy sources has sparked an explosion of alternative energy companies, especially in the residential solar market. This development has ...

Minnesota is suing firms who finance solar power systems for homes. The case alleges that four lending companies deceived customers with hidden, upfront fees in exchange for lower ...

Web: <https://www.thehibiscuscoast.co.za>